CHARTERED SURVEYORS: SOLE PRACTITIONERS

"I am happy to be able to support this quest to establish a business network of sole-traders within RICS. Many RICS leaders are also leaders of small businesses and I am a sole-trader myself. It is a challenge but also exceptionally rewarding. The ability to share best practices is one of the ways we succeed so I encourage any of you with an interest to make contact and become a part of this exciting venture." Ann Gray, FRICS President 2023

Are you a Chartered Surveyor operating as a sole practitioner? With the help and support of the RICS we are planning to form a Sole Practitioners Group.

Having been in business as a sole practitioner for over 38 year (established 15th November 1984) I still believe I can learn from others and together maybe we can also give some encouragement to those following behind.

We know there are unique issues for sole practitioners and maybe the group can give support and encouragement to each other and to those seeking to "go-it-alone"

My initial thought is simply to create a list of Chartered Surveyors who are operating in this way, either with or without staff (some may employ qualified staff, many will work alone with the assistance of either full or part time staff).

It is not intended that this directory will be confidential in any format. We want it to generate interest and publicity. We want potential clients who appreciate the input a sole-practitioner can offer to be able to access the information. Initially, we plan to upload to the WEB a simple listing which could include a photo of you or your premises, contact details including an e-mail address and a web-link, and maybe up to 20 words on what you want your potential clients to believe you're good at!

I don't wish it to cut across the work of many assisting small businesses, be this on-line or in regions, as many are doing great work. I'd like it to be a link for those interested, and to be able to hold maybe two events each year so we can meet, or maybe once a year we simply gather for a pre-Christmas lunch?!

Initially there will be no charge for joining as I see this as a "project" that needs to happen. If in time funds are needed, and I anticipate them being very small each year, we'll face that problem at the time! We will establish a web link and put in some time over the coming 6 months in the hope of having 100 in the group by September 2023 and 250 by Spring 2024. As the site will be publicly available via a web link, the numbers will be available for all to see.

If you're interested, please make contact via reception@centre-p.co.uk and just as importantly PLEASE forward this to any Chartered Surveyors you may know who are operating as a sole practitioner.

Thanks, and I look forward to hearing from you.
